Mastodon's new album is one of the most highly anticipated metal releases of the year. The band has been working on the album for over two years, and it is finally finished. The album is a concept album about a group of friends who go on a camping trip and encounter a creature from another world. The album is full of heavy riffs and catchy hooks, and is sure to be a hit with fans of Mastodon's previous work.

The album is set to be released on March 31, 2017, through Reprise Records. The album was produced by Brendan O'Brien.

The album was released on March 31, 2017, through Reprise Records. It is the band's first album in four years, following 2013's Once More 'Round the Sun.

The album was preceded by the singles "Sultan's Curse", "Show Yourself", and "Andromeda". It received generally positive reviews from music critics upon release.

The album was a commercial success, debuting at number one on the US Billboard 200 and selling over 34,000 copies in its first week. In the United Kingdom, it debuted at number six on the UK Albums Chart.

The album was nominated for Best Metal Performance at the 59th Annual Grammy Awards.

The album was well-received by critics, with many praising its experimental nature. AllMusic's Gregory Heaney gave the album 4 out of 5 stars, writing that "Mastodon continue to be one of metal's most forward-thinking bands."
